The Rev. Samuel Gregory Jones

My bishop made me a priest, but GTS made me a theologian – something the Church needs all its leaders to be, lay or ordained. All baptized servants of the Gospel do better ministry when they have solid theological training. GTS can provide that. As a published author (Beyond Da Vinci, Seabury Books, 2004), honors graduate, and winner of the Sutton Prize for Best Graduate Thesis and the Faculty Prize in Church History, I am dedicated to upholding the Seminary's academic excellence. At the same time, as the rector of a resource-sized parish, as well as a member of Generation X, I am most interested in assuring that the GTS trains clergy and lay leaders for faithful, effective and powerful ministry. As a Spanish-speaker ordained for ministry in the Diocese of Honduras, I am both willing and able to encourage the Seminary's ministry with Spanish-speaking individuals, congregations, and dioceses.
