

THE Episcopal
CHURCH

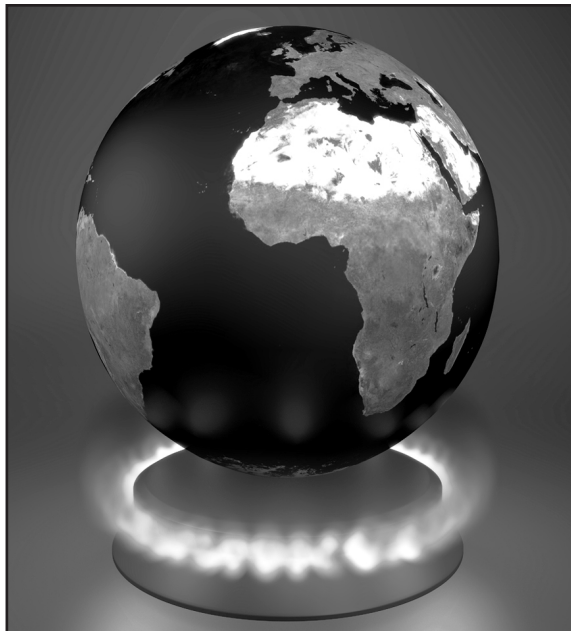

MARCH 8, 2015 – THIRD SUNDAY IN LENT
CLIMATE CHANGE CRISIS FORUM
AND 30 DAYS OF ACTION

On March 24, the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society and the Diocese of Los Angeles will co-host a forum on climate change, one of today's most critical issues. The 90-minute webcast of the Climate Change Crisis forum will stream live from Campbell Hall Episcopal School in North Hollywood, Calif., beginning at 11 a.m. (PST) / 2 p.m. (EST).

The forum will be moderated by Fritz Coleman, weather reporter for Los Angeles' KNBC-TV news, and the keynote address will be delivered by Presiding Bishop Katharine Jefferts Schori.

After the event, a video of the forum will be available on demand, along with resources to facilitate individual and group viewing, such as a bibliography, discussion questions and lesson plans, at <http://www.episcopalchurch.org/events/climate-change-crisis>.

(image by Lesserland)

THE Episcopal
CHURCH

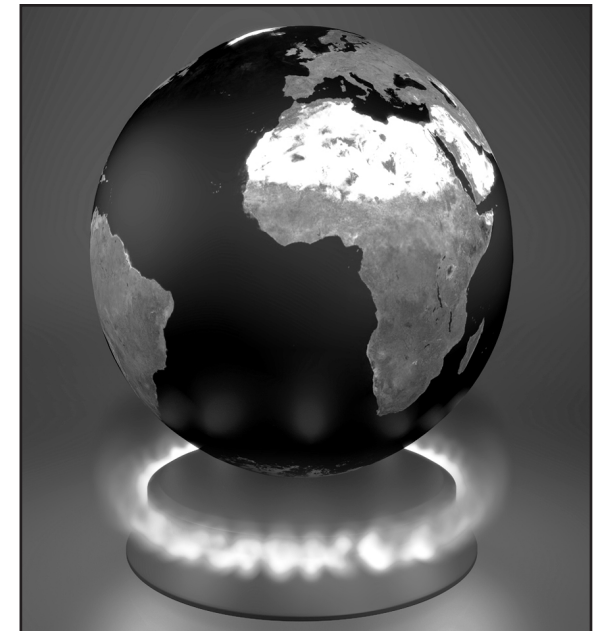

MARCH 8, 2015 – THIRD SUNDAY IN LENT
CLIMATE CHANGE CRISIS FORUM
AND 30 DAYS OF ACTION

On March 24, the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society and the Diocese of Los Angeles will co-host a forum on climate change, one of today's most critical issues. The 90-minute webcast of the Climate Change Crisis forum will stream live from Campbell Hall Episcopal School in North Hollywood, Calif., beginning at 11 a.m. (PST) / 2 p.m. (EST).

The forum will be moderated by Fritz Coleman, weather reporter for Los Angeles' KNBC-TV news, and the keynote address will be delivered by Presiding Bishop Katharine Jefferts Schori.

After the event, a video of the forum will be available on demand, along with resources to facilitate individual and group viewing, such as a bibliography, discussion questions and lesson plans, at <http://www.episcopalchurch.org/events/climate-change-crisis>.

(image by Lesserland)

The Climate Change Crisis forum will also kick off 30 Days of Action, an invitation for individuals and groups to address climate change – to learn, advocate, act, proclaim, eat, play and pray.

“The Climate Change Crisis forum’s 30 Days of Action plan is intended to help individuals bridge that space of feeling helpless due to the magnitude of the crisis, to feeling empowered by joining a movement to reform communal behavior through individual awareness and action,” explained Bronwyn Clark Skov, the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society’s officer for Youth Ministries and Lifelong Christian Formation. “The activities for each day have been designed by an interdisciplinary team to appeal to a spectrum of generations, diversities, interests and abilities. As we take up the real engagement of the Fifth Mark of Mission – treasuring this vulnerable earth – we do so in a variety of ways using the gifts God has given.”

Sign up to receive daily email during 30 Days of Action at <http://www.episcopalchurch.org/page/30-days-action>, or for more information, please contact Bronwyn Clark Skov: bskov@episcopalchurch.org.

The Climate Change Crisis forum will also kick off 30 Days of Action, an invitation for individuals and groups to address climate change – to learn, advocate, act, proclaim, eat, play and pray.

“The Climate Change Crisis forum’s 30 Days of Action plan is intended to help individuals bridge that space of feeling helpless due to the magnitude of the crisis, to feeling empowered by joining a movement to reform communal behavior through individual awareness and action,” explained Bronwyn Clark Skov, the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society’s officer for Youth Ministries and Lifelong Christian Formation. “The activities for each day have been designed by an interdisciplinary team to appeal to a spectrum of generations, diversities, interests and abilities. As we take up the real engagement of the Fifth Mark of Mission – treasuring this vulnerable earth – we do so in a variety of ways using the gifts God has given.”

Sign up to receive daily email during 30 Days of Action at <http://www.episcopalchurch.org/page/30-days-action>, or for more information, please contact Bronwyn Clark Skov: bskov@episcopalchurch.org.

